Ondelacy will be 2015 Leadership Reno Sparks Graduate

RSIC member grows, wants to share enriching program

Michael Ondelacy, the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony Assistant Director of Business Enterprises & Economic Development, will graduate on Sept. 11 from 2015 Leadership Reno Sparks and he wants more RSIC employees or members to take advantage of the program.

“It has been a growing experience working with individuals from different occupations and with different personalities,” Ondelacy said. “Having completed the program, I am more confident and better at expressing myself, plus I am more accepting of other’s differing opinions.”

Sponsored by the Chamber Northern Nevada, Leadership Reno Sparks has produced hundreds of managers, community leaders, business owners and entrepreneurs.

Ondelacy learned of the program through his supervisor, Steve Moran, the director of RSIC Economic Development & Business Enterprises.

“I really thought Michael could benefit from this program because it provides exposure to many facets of the Reno community in a short period of time and the program allows him to interact with the community’s business and government leaders and to develop contacts with colleagues in the Reno area,” Moran said. “Scott Nebesky (RSIC Director of Planning) attended the program and speaks highly of it.”

Moran added that since Ondelacy finished the program, he has become a better public speaker and is less intimidated networking with others to accomplish his goals.

Furthermore, just being accepted into Leadership Reno Sparks is a huge accomplishment, much less successfully completing the demanding requirements.

To start, the application is rigorous and extensive.

According to Leadership Reno Sparks’ website, applicants with the greatest potential to better the community are considered and often, excellent candidates are turned away.

The written application is eight pages and includes 13 short answer questions that range from the serious—what do you do to give back to the community to the abstract—if you could have coffee with anyone, who would it be and why?

Preference is given to individuals who have a sincere concern about the future of the community and a personal desire to help shape that future. An applicant must demonstrate a capacity for leadership through significant achievements or drive to become a better leader. The time commitment required, a two-day retreat and all day workshops, Saturday volunteer work, plus full support of his or her employer are a must.

Also, it helps if your employer is a member of the Chamber, which the RSIC is, as application costs are reduced.

Once selected, Ondelacy and the 35 other participants spent 10 months focusing on communication, developmental organization, and community participation. Specific topics included education, government, law enforcement, health and wellness, arts and history, and the economy.

They heard directly from company presidents, business directors and other key staff. Then, those presentations were followed by facility tours such as the University of Nevada, Reno Aces Stadium, the Washoe County Detention Center, and Renown Health.

“I learned the direction the city and other local leaders are taking us and how companies like Tesla and even how medical advancements will shape our future lives,” Ondelacy said.

An enrolled member of the RSIC, Ondelacy said that even though he was the only participant from his tribe, the topics were very inclusive.

For example, two Native Americans—father and son Ben and Jon Rupert—provided an accurate, culturally appropriate presentation about traditional American Indian art. The two also engaged in a questions and answers session about the indigenous people of Northern Nevada.

“It was very well received,” Ondelacy said. “Even people who have been lifelong Reno residents have questions about us.”

Ondelacy, who is of Paiute and Zuni decent, explained that the other participants wanted to know basic facts about the Colony, like where the boundaries are and what the mission is for the tribe’s economic development.

“The group included people of different ages, different career fields, and different ethnic backgrounds,” Ondelacy said. “However, they were all really interested in the RSIC and they want to know how we operate.”

Besides being exposed to a very diverse group of people, Ondelacy said that...

RSIC SIGN UP NIGHTS

Wednesday, Sept. 9th from 6:30-7:30 p.m., at the Hungry Valley Community Center

Thursday, Sept. 10th from 6-7 p.m., at the Reno Colony Gymnasium
Ira Coffey, a police officer for the City of Reno and a member of the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony, was recently presented the Nathan Hale Heroism Award. This coveted honor is in addition to a Medal of Meritorious Service and a Reno Fire Department Certificate of Commendation earned by Officer Coffey and his partner, Michael Hicks as they performed their duties in an exemplary manner and inspired others to improve the quantity and quality of their work.

Such a distinction only occurs when an officer exhibits unusual courage or competence in an emergency which directly benefits the public.

Officer Coffey and Officer Hicks’ actions were so heroic that the Kiwanis Cal-Nev-Ha Foundation saw fit to recognize their personal involvement and sacrifice above and beyond the normal call of bravery.

According to Steve Pitts, Chief of the Reno Police Department, about 5:30 a.m., on Jan. 5, 2014, officers were dispatched to an apartment fire in central Reno.

When Officer Coffey and Officer Hicks arrived, they observed smoke coming from an apartment and several residents who lived in the complex told them there was an elderly woman inside the burning apartment.

Officers Coffey and Hicks crawled into the smoke filled apartment, located the woman alive, but unconscious in her wheelchair.

Both officers grabbed the wheelchair, which had started to melt due to the heat from the fire, and dragged the 77-year-old woman outside to waiting medical personnel.

The woman was taken to the hospital for severe burns and smoke inhalation.

After hearing about the heroic efforts of Officer Coffey and Hicks, the Reno Sunset Chapter of the Kiwanis Club submitted the two Reno Police Officers for the heroism award.

This coveted award is presented annually by the Kiwanis Cal-Nev-Ha Foundation. Nominations come from the three states, California, Nevada and Hawaii.

According the Reno Sunset Chapter Kiwanis Club Officer Billie Tout on several occasions, the award is not given out because the standards are so high.

“We usually have dozens of applications, but they don’t always rise to the prestige of this award,” Tout said. “The bravery of Office Coffey and Office Hick went beyond our criteria and we were thrilled to honor them.”

The Kiwanis esteemed award was named after Nathan Hale.

Born in Connecticut in 1755, Hale was designated his state’s official hero in 1985.

Hale was a captain in the Continental Army and volunteered to spy on the British during the American Revolution.

In 1776, at just age 21, he was hanged without a trial by the British.

The young patriot’s immortal last words were: “I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country.”

The award ceremony for the officers for was held on Aug. 14 at the 95th Annual CAL-NEV-HA Kiwanis District Convention in Sacramento, Calif.
outside agencies. In July, Ondelacy applied those skills by inviting a few of his fellow Leadership Reno Sparks participants to the RSIC Summer Youth Career Day. Four agencies—the Washoe County Sheriff’s Office, the Chamber Northern Nevada, United Credit Union and Honor Academy of Literature, volunteered to visit the Colony to speak to young people about future career choices. “The best part of Leadership Reno Sparks was getting out and meeting new people,” Ondelacy said. “It was great to see the youth meeting people from different fields, too.” So, besides sharing his new contacts and his new leadership skills with the RSIC community, Ondelacy wants to encourage other RSIC employees or members to apply for next year’s Leadership Reno Sparks. “It has to be someone who desires to grow professionally, and learn leadership and networking,” Ondelacy said.

he rediscovered his city.

“I used to stay away from downtown because I thought it was all gambling and Hot August Nights,” Ondelacy said, “but through this program I learned about the history of the area, the art, and all these resources.”

Having worked in economic development and business enterprises for about a year and a half, Ondelacy owns formal credentials in finance. The 33-year-old earned an associate’s degree from Truckee Meadows Community College and completed his bachelor’s degree at the UNR.

“The RSIC is growing and we are going to grow even more,” Ondelacy said. “This program allowed me to see government in action in a much larger context.”

Specifically, Ondelacy noted the cooperation between the City of Reno, the City of Sparks and the Washoe County Sheriff’s Office. He said that he has always respected law enforcement, but having heard from their leadership and visiting their facilities, Ondelacy said he is especially impressed.

“I have even more respect for how they operate,” Ondelacy said.

He explained that a big component of successfully working for economic development is networking with RENO, Nev. — The Nevada Museum of Art has organized the first major art historical survey exhibition of one of America’s most beloved landscapes. TAHOE: A Visual History spans over two centuries of cultural and creative production related to the second largest freshwater alpine lake in the United States and features more than 400 artworks by painters, photographers, architects, basket weavers, and sculptors.

TAHOE: A Visual History opened last week and will be on view until Jan. 10. A 488-page book by the same name, co-published with Skira Rizzoli and distributed by Random House, accompanies the exhibit.

Five years in the making, TAHOE: A Visual History presents historical paintings, Native baskets, photography, architecture, and contemporary art dedicated to Lake Tahoe, Donner Pass, and the surrounding Sierra Nevada region. Nevada Museum of Art senior curator and deputy director Ann M. Wolfe curated the exhibition.

“Many books and museum exhibitions have been devoted to the art of American’s most scenic and iconic landscapes. Thanks to such scholarship, it is easy to conjure a mental image of the art of Yosemite, Yellowstone, Niagara Falls, or New York’s Hudson Valley,” Wolfe said. “The same cannot be said for the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. This exhibition, and accompanying books, surveys the contributions of hundreds of artists who have made work in or about the region.”

TAHOE: A Visual History combines historically significant cultural and art objects with contemporary works inspired by a shared reverence for the region.

The exhibition is organized thematically, though somewhat chronologically to encourage dialogue among museum-goers while simultaneously transcribing historical perspective.

“Art produced in and about a place helps define its cultural identity,” Wolfe said. “Without knowledge or shared understanding of a region’s art and history, it is impossible to celebrate or critically examine its contributions to the broader culture.”

A number of key artworks will punctuate the show, including the largest presentation of baskets by Washoe weaver Dat-So-La-Lee ever displayed in one place. Dat-So-La-Lee is known for her innovative development of the degikup basket form that has become synonymous with fine art of Washoe basketry.

Along with Dat-So-La-Lee, the Native Basketry of Lake Tahoe includes artists: Scees Bryant, Lena Dick and Sarah Mayo.

More than 15 contemporary artists also will be featured.

The Nevada Museum of Art is at 160 West Liberty St., in Reno. It is open Wednesday through Sunday, 10 a.m.—6 p.m., late on Thursdays until 8 p.m. General admission is $10, students/seniors $8, children $1 and free for children under 5.

Furthermore, the RSIC Language & Culture Department has a Sept. 18 trip planned to see the exhibit.

Many people have been affected by injury, not just the victim. Everyone knows someone who has been touched by injury.

In the United States alone, nearly 180,000 people die from violence and injuries each year. That is one person every three minutes.

Perhaps your classmate committed suicide or a neighborhood child was killed in a head on car collision on a main highway.

In small communities, these tragedies can be devastating. Deaths are only a fraction of the issue. In the U.S., preventable injuries cost more than $406 billion every year in medical costs and productivity, not to mention victims who are faced with life-long mental, physical and financial strain due to injury.

However, there is hope in prevention.

It has been a proven science that prevention can and does save lives. For example:
* Seat belts have saved an estimated 255,000 lives between 1975 and 2008.

Attention To Detail — On Oct. 3, Carrie Brown, RSTHC Injury Prevention Coordinator, will be providing free safety checks for children’s car seats at Community Safety Day in Hungry Valley. For more information about this upcoming event or tips on proper car seat use, school safety, and elder falls, please contact Brown at (775) 329-5162 or like us. RSIC Injury Prevention Program, on Facebook.

* Car seats have shown to reduce a child’s risk of death and injury when used correctly by 74 percent.

The Reno-Sparks Tribal Health Center currently offers several programs to prevent injuries due to elder fall and motor vehicle crashes such as home assessments and modifications for 55-years and older population, Tai Chi Class for 55-years and older population, exercise incentives for 55-years and older population, and vision referral incentives for 55-years and older population.

In addition, the RSTHC offers medication reviews, car seat fitting station and motor vehicle crash education.

For more information about these programs, please contact Carrie Brown at (775) 329-5162 ext. 1928.

CONTACT NUMBERS FOR THE TRIBAL POLICE

IN CASES OF EMERGENCY PLEASE DIAL 911.

We must stress the importance of calling 911. A 911 dispatcher will send an officer to the address of the emergency; they will also ask questions to assist the officer prior to arrival. The dispatcher may also contact other services that are needed such as medical assistance, fire assistance, or additional police personnel.

POLICE NON-EMERGENCY NUMBERS

These numbers should NOT be used for calls of emergency.

785-8776  RSIC TRIBAL POLICE BUSINESS OFFICE. This number is to be used to conduct administrative business with the police department. Such as leaving messages for police staff, information requests, general questions, or other police business related matters. The police administrative office is open Monday through Friday from 8:00am to 5:00pm.

785-1365  HUNGRY VALLEY SUB-STATION. This is an office number for business use. Officers use the sub-station for briefings, writing reports and telephone calls.

322-4900  SECRET WITNESS. A special telephone line citizens may call without identifying themselves to provide information of crimes or criminal activities they have knowledge of.

DO NOT CALL POLICE CELL PHONE NUMBERS FOR EMERGENCIES
I would like to update the Community on some issues that the Tribal Council and I have been working on.

First of all, I traveled to Washington D.C. on July 15 to give testimony on our Tribal Lands bill H.R. 2733 the “Nevada Native Nations Land Act” before the House Subcommittee on Indian, Insular and Alaskan Native Affairs.

Nevada Congressman Mark Amodei, who is the sponsor of our bill, spoke to the Committee in support of the legislation which would increase our Hungry Valley Reservation by 13,434 acres.

I gave verbal testimony to the Committee on behalf of our Tribe and the five other Nevada Tribes who are included in the bill: Fort McDermitt, Duck Valley, Summit lake, Pyramid Lake and Duck Water Tribes.

The hearing went very well with Committee Chairman Don Young paying very close attention to our testimony.

We have a similar bill S. 1436 in the Senate which was introduced by Senator Harry Reid and Senator Dean Heller, which we anticipate a hearing to be scheduled in September.

The Tribal Lands bill seems to be moving forward without any major opposition.

As to other issues, the newly constructed State Transitional Living Center is nearly complete and is scheduled for a ribbon cutting opening on Wednesday, Sept. 23 at 1 p.m.

The Tribe will soon initiate a land exchange with the State of Nevada where we will take over the former six-acre State Facility site just east of Walmart, and the State will gain title to the land now occupied by the new Northern Nevada Transitional Housing Center.

This is the result of a tax sharing agreement codified in State legislative Bill AB 299 passed a number of years ago in the State Legislature, whereby the Colony agreed to share Walmart tax revenue with the State, including financing of the transitional center and to sharing revenue with the Washoe County School District.

The Colony will began preliminary infrastructure planning development on the six acre site in considering the best development for the site.

Finally, we have moved into our new administration facility at 34 Reservation Rd.

The transition and move went fairly well as we are still finalizing a few things.

We hope to have an open house once everything is in place. The renovation of the old health center and upgrades to the rest of the old multi-purpose facility building was well-worth doing. We have more space and can better serve our community.

Arlan Melendez
Chairman

Expanded Valley — With the successful passage of the Nevada Native Nations Lands Act, Hungry Valley will grow by about 13,500 acres.

Eight Ways to Coach Boys Into Men

Women’s Circle clarifies conflicting, harmful message bombarding boys everyday

Submitted by Dorothy McCloud,
Women’s Circle Coordinator

Your son, grandson, nephew, younger brother—they all need you to help them grow into healthy young men.

Boys are swamped with influences outside of the home—from friends, the neighborhood, television, the internet, music, and the movies to everything they see around them. They hear all kinds of messages about what it means to “be a man”—that they have to be tough and in control.

There are numerous conflicting, harmful messages being given to boys about what constitutes “being a man” in a relationship.

Boys need your advice on how to behave toward girls. Boys are watching how you and other men relate to women to figure out their own stance towards girls.

So teach boys early and teach them often that there is no place for violence in a relationship.

Following are eight ways to coach boys into men.

1. Teach Early - It is a medically known fact that children ages of 0-5 do their most learning during this time span. This is when their “life map” is being created. Who they become will show what they have seen, heard, or witnessed as a child.

2. Be there - Spend time with your child, even if it is just for an hour or two. Just being with them is crucial. Children want a male presence around them, even if few words are exchanged.

3. Listen - Hear what your child has to say. Listen to how he and his friends talk about girls. Ask him if he’s ever seen abusive behavior in his friends. Is he worried about any of his friends who are being hurt in their relationships? Are any of his friends hurting anyone else?

4. Tell Him How - Teach your child ways to express his anger without using violence. When he gets mad, tell him he can walk it off, talk it out, or take a time out. Try to give him examples of what you might say or do in situations that could turn violent.

5. Bring it up - A kid will never approach you and ask for guidance on how to treat women. Try watching television with your child or listening to his music. If you see or hear things that depict violence against women, tell him what you think about it. When it is time for dating, remind him that treating girls with respect is important.

6. Be a Role Model - Fathers, coaches and any man who spends time with boys or teens will have the greatest impact when they “walk the walk.” Deal with people with respect when you’re driving in traffic, talking with customer service reps, in restaurants with waiters, and with your family around the dinner table. He’s watching what you say and do and takes his cues from you—both the good and the bad.

7. Teach Often - Help your child work through problems in relationships as they arise. Let him know he can come back and talk to you at anytime. Use every opportunity to reinforce non-violent relationships.

8. Become a Founding Father - Show him how important the issue of violence against women and children is to you.

ALWAYS CALL 911 IN AN EMERGENCY!!!

Thank You!

On behalf of the Southwest Region of the Native American Fish and Wildlife Society (NAFWS), I’d like to thank the following from the R/S Colony for your help and participation at our conference that was held from August 11-13, 2015 at the Silver Legacy: Chairman Arlan Melendez for offering the opening invocation, Michon Eben for doing a presentation as well as assisting with getting the gym for the traditional feast, Bucky Harjo for assisting with the set up and clean-up of the gym, the local youth “We Rock Native” rock band for providing entertainment and the Juanita Sampson family for providing a great meal for our members that travelled to Reno from Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Utah and Oklahoma. The gym and public works employees were also of great assistance.

I appreciate you all.

Thanks,
Elveda Martinez from the Walker River Paiute Tribe

Bicycle Rodeo Draws Eager Young Riders
Health Center partners with Nevada Department of Transportation

Shaden Quartz is riding his bicycle faster, safer and certainly happier, thanks to staff from the Reno-Sparks Tribal Health Center and the Nevada Department of Transportation.

“This is really cool and fun,” the 7-year-old said. “It can go so much faster.”

During last month’s Kids Bike Rodeo held in the parking lot of the RSTHC, Quartz’s training wheels on his bicycle were removed.

Held just prior to the community picnic, Quartz and about 20 other youth learned safety and riding skills during the two-hour program.

Before any bike riding, participants who needed a helmet were fitted and all participants received complimentary bike and wrist reflectors.

According to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention, a 2001-03 national survey found that only 48 percent of children ages 5-14 years wore bicycle helmets when riding.

“Parents don’t understand the dangers and risks associated with head injuries,” said Carrie Brown, the RSTHC Safety Prevention Coordinator.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration website indicates that many bicycle-related crashes resulting in injury or death are associated with the bicyclist’s behavior, including such things as not wearing a bicycle helmet, riding into a street without stopping, turning left or swerving into traffic that is coming from behind, running a stop sign, and riding the wrong way in traffic.

All of these areas were addressed at the Kids Bike Rodeo.

“We have so many kids here at the Colony and in Hungry Valley that ride bikes,” said Rocky Batastini, one of the event organizers. “I’ve been told that often, the kids aren’t wearing helmets, so with the Kids Bike Rodeo, we can ensure that some of our kids have the proper equipment and know the rules of the road.”

Furthermore, Brown and Batastini are organizing another Kids Bike Rodeo, this one to be held in Hungry Valley on Oct. 3 in conjunction with the RSIC Community Safety Day.

“Bike riding is a great way to get exercise and more importantly, to have fun, which is really important,” Batastini said. “The entire staff at the health center wants to keep our community safe and healthy and the Kids Bike Rodeo is just one of the ways we do that.”

For more information about bike safety, the Oct. 3 RSIC Community Safety Day or injury prevention, please call Batastini or Brown at (775) 329-5162.

Colony Senior Fun Day Draws Hundred of Elders

Hawaiian theme includes music, attire, food, friends

Submitted by Darlene Gardipe,
RSIC Senior Program Manager

I want to thank everyone for the great turnout and support for our annual Senior Fun Day. We couldn't have had the most successful Senior Fun Day ever, without all of your department's participation and their staff who enthusiastically joined in promoting their programs. What a great job of showing our visitors what great programs we have here on the Colony.

I really appreciate all of the volunteers (too numerous to name here; but I do have a list of names). I would like to especially thank our own Danny Baclayon, who works in our Finance Department, and Gil Thompson, who both played the beautiful Hawaiian music and for the wonderful singing for all of us to enjoy. A special thanks to Pastor Augustine for the welcoming prayer. A great, big thank you goes out to Public Works, Recreation staff, Education Staff and the many others who helped serve the food and drink, set up, tear down and especially the clean up after our event.

I want to recognize my staff, Teresa Bill our Activities Coordinator who planned and coordinated the event and for keeping me on track of tasks; our cooks, Evie Astor and Fonda Brooks who planned the menu, ordered the food, prepared, cooked and served the delicious food; Leland Thomas our van driver, who helped do a lot of heavy lifting and who made last minute runs to the store. They all deserve a huge thank you for helping plan, decorate, clean-up and for doing all the numerous other things that come up just needed to be done.

We had many great comments from our elders who traveled from all over Northern Nevada and California. Some who came from as far as Owyhee. Other visitors came from Pyramid Lake, Nixon, Dresslerville, Elko, Yerington, Susanville, Walker River, Fallon, Carson City, Stewart, Bishop and of course, our own Reno-Sparks seniors. We even had a guest who is originally from Hawaii. Some people asked why we didn't have a "best dressed" contest, the simple reason was-almost everyone dressed up and it would have been impossible to pick just one or two.

This is our way of showing appreciation, respect and honor to our elders. Seeing them having a great time and really enjoying themselves is so awesome. Many stopped by and made sure they told us how much they enjoyed the music, food and of course Bingo. Friends who had not seen each other in a long time got a chance to visit, laugh and give each other a hug or two. If anyone has pictures to share, please send them to us.

We look forward to next year's Senior Fun Day and hope to see you all there.

From Near and Far— Over 200 people, most dressed in a Hawaiian motif, came from all over the state to attend the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony's Senior Center Fun Day. Great food, great music and great fun was had by all. Additionally, several Colony departments and other agencies set up information booths. For more photographs from this year's celebration, please log onto: www.rsic.org/rsic-services/senior-program/.

Annual event shows elder appreciation, respect, honor

Long Time Friends — Ruby Carillo and Beverly Brazzonovich affectionately greet each other during Senior Fun Day. Elders from all parts of Nevada turned out for the annual event which included a Hawaiian theme this year. Many participants donned leis, wore flowers in their hair and sported tropical pattern clothing.

Bean Bag Toss — Alverine Skenadore was one of the more than 200 people who attended Senior Fun Day at the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony Behavioral Health and Substance Abuse programs. Skenadore tried her luck at a bean bag toss game while Mary Lask, one of the Colony’s alcohol and drug counselors, looks on.

Important Numbers — Valentine Lovelace, a community health representative at the Reno-Sparks Tribal Health Center offered to take the blood pressure of participants at Senior Fun Day. Above, Barbara Christy, who also works for the Colony, sits very still during the examination.

Lovely Ladies — Estelle Pancho and Flora Smokey travelled to Senior Fun Day from Pyramid Lake and Dresserville, respectively. Annually, the RSIC Senior Program hosts a day-long event to honor and acknowledge the valuable role all seniors and elders hold throughout Indian Country.

Summer time fun, community picnic watermelon eating contest, hot rods

No Hands — Drew Crutcher shows great technique as he plows through a giant slice of watermelon during a customary contest held at the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony Annual Community Picnic hosted by the Colony’s Recreation Department.

Big Crowd — Mother Nature provided especially good weather for the annual community picnic. Hundreds of revelers enjoyed the barbeque, the live music and all the contests. Young and old joined in on the hula hoop competition as well as the water balloon toss.

Classic — In conjunction with the annual community picnic, on-lookers had the opportunity to check out the “Show and Shine” classic automobiles parked in a designated area of Anderson Park.

Riff Master — Elwood Lowery was part of the band, Randy and the Rattlers, which entertained during the annual community picnic. Sponsored by the RSIC’s Recreation Department, the afternoon included food, music, and fun for all ages.

Under the big top, good tunes, making memories

Upscale — The RSIC teen summer trip included a stop at San Francisco’s famous Union Square, a public plaza. The area got its name because it was once used for rallies to support the Union Army during the American Civil War. It is a major tourist destination and known internationally for shopping.

Dog Days of Summer — Native youth enjoyed a myriad of activities for four weeks during summer vacation from school. Above, three youngsters display their homemade ice cream made during RSIC Recreation Day Camp.

Got Dirt? — Several RSIC youth spent their summer vacation honing their job skills. Above, Recreation summer youth workers Allan Tatsey, Dolly Padilla, and Michael Acosta display some of their tools of their trade. The trio worked for the recreation department.

Praise Fest — Audience members were treated to gospel sounds of Sayani during the Hungry Valley Christian Fellowship’s 9th Annual Native American Praise Festival. A mother-daughter duo, fans heard Christian Rock Music in English, in Cherokee and even in Hawaiian languages.

To improve your experience at the pharmacy:

* Make and keep regular clinic appointments, this helps assure your therapy is current and beneficial.

* If you have not completed your Pharmacy Intake Form and brought in insurance documents, processing your order will take longer than normal.

* When requesting refill via refill line (ext.1699), remember to speak clearly. Give us your name, date of birth and phone number.

* The pharmacy will attempt to group refills together to keep you from making multiple trips, but know that walk-ins and appointments made on different days of the month will change this. When asking for refills try to “group” those together that may be within five (5) days due of each other, this may help.

* Please route most drug requests through the pharmacy.

Asking your provider / physician for routine refills slows the process and results in confusion and duplication. The pharmacy will notify doctors if you have no refills left. This is part of the reason that requests take 1-3 days to complete a refill.

The exception is narcotic pain medication for which you will need another appointment. Please try to anticipate your need and you will not run out of medication.

Trained Mediators — Four staff members from the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony recently learned the ins-and-outs of being a neutral meeting facilitators. Held at the University of Nevada Extension Office in Reno, participants used small group learning to hone their leadership skills and to review effective leadership techniques for meetings. Dr. Brenda Freeman, a professor in the UNR Department of Education and Steve Lewis, a UNR Extension Educator, led the group which included Colony employees Janice Stump, Angela Wilson, Stacey Montooth and Michael Ondelacy. Other Natives involved with the training were Staci Emm, a UNR Extension Educator who organized the day, and Keri Emm, a UNR Transfer Recruitment Coordinator. WALK A MILE IN HER SHOES

Men’s March to End Violence Against Women

I WAS MAN ENOUGH TO WALK A MILE IN HER SHOES...

There is an old saying: “You can’t really understand another person’s experience until you’ve walked a mile in their shoes.” This event asks men to literally walk in women’s high-heeled shoes. It’s not easy, but it’s fun & gets the community talking about a difficult subject.

It’s critical to open communication about how violence in the family affects the well-being of all generations within our community. Native American women experience the highest rate of violence of any group in the United States.

You can bring your own shoes to wear (bought or borrowed), or we can loan some to you if you pre-register by 9/18/15. T-shirts will be provided to the first 200 men who register.

Climate Change Focus Group

City of Reno wants your input

RENO, Nev.—Please consider sharing your vision for the future of Reno by participating in the ReImagine Reno Focus Group on Climate Change & Resiliency on Sept. 29 at 5:30 p.m., at the McKinley Arts & Culture Center Auditorium, 925 Riverside Drive in Reno.

The event will begin with a brief presentation, then participants will break into smaller groups to have focused conversations.

The feedback collected during the event will be used to inform the work of updating Reno’s Master Plan and the Climate Action Initiative.

The Master Plan is a long-term planning document that provides a vision for the built environment of a city. It guides the appropriate use of lands in order to protect the quality of life for citizens and promote efficient provision of services.

Talking Circle

The talking circle is also a listening circle. The talking circle allows one person to talk at a time for as long as they need to talk. So much can be gained by listening. Is it a coincidence that the Creator gave us one mouth and two ears? The power of the circle allows the heart to be shared with each other. What we share with each other also heals each other. When we talk about our pain in the circle, it is distributed to the circle, and we are free of the pain. The talking circle works because when the people form a circle, the Great Mystery is in the center.

Dear WCSD Parents, Guardians, and Families,

On behalf of the Washoe County School District (WCSD), we welcome you and your child back for the new school year! This year is certain to be filled with many great accomplishments. We are excited about the year ahead and remain committed to helping your child grow and succeed in the classroom.

Listening to input from our community, we have revised our strategic plan—Envision WCSD 2020—Investing In Our Future. This will be the document that guides the work we do every day to help all of our students learn, grow, and prepare for college, military service, and highly-skilled careers. It will help us build on our past successes, constantly review areas in which we should provide greater emphasis, and focus on improving results to ensure all of our 63,000 students are receiving a high-quality education. For more information please visit www.washoeschools.net/evision2020.

As we in WCSD continue our goal of Every Child, By Name And Face, To Graduation, we know much work remains. Part of that important work includes evaluating our efforts with a clear focus on improving graduation rates for our American Indian/Native American students. To help with this we must enhance our relationships and conversations with families and the community. We know that support, guidance, encouragement, and mentoring are proven ways to produce greater student successes. When we work together as a community to share ideas, collaborate on initiatives, and support our students, we succeed in creating an environment where all students flourish.

We look forward to partnering with you for our upcoming annual Door to Door for Student Achievement campaign. This important campaign allows us visit with students who are at risk of dropping out of school and their families to offer support, encouragement, and individualized plans to get them back on track to graduation. If you are interested in volunteering to assist us during this important outreach effort, please watch the WCSD website (www.washoeschools.net) for updates and information. On Sunday, October 18, the Education Alliance will hold its annual Run for Education event at Legends at Sparks Marina. We hope you and your family will join us.

This is a great time to be a part of the WCSD community, and we are excited to continue to partner with you, our community members. We could not accomplish our goals without you, and we are eager to see what we can achieve together in the coming school year.

With appreciation for everything you do,

John Mayer, Traci Davis
President, WCSD Board of Trustees WCSD Superintendent

CARSON CITY, Nev.—In June, Governor Brian Sandoval signed legislation to build a veterans home in Sparks, Nev., which would service about 95 veterans and family members.

Governor Sandoval issued the following statement clarifying the timeline of the Northern Nevada Veterans Home.

“This legislative session, I signed into law Assembly Bill 491 which appropriated more than $14 million for the construction of the Northern Nevada Veterans Home.

Following this initial funding, my administration immediately notified the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Grant Office that Nevada had met the state-match requirement and therefore became competitive for a $33.5 million matching federal grant.

This important project is moving forward on schedule and its completion will remain a top priority.

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs is currently working on the 2016 Construction Grant Priority List and Congress will soon make decisions regarding funding for new projects.

The $14 million state-match allows the Nevada Department of Veterans Services to confidently tell their federal partners that we are ready to begin work as they decide their funding priorities.

Due to the funding appropriated this session, the state has been able to take significant steps forward – we have identified the land, architectural drawings are in the final stages, and detailed construction plans have been created.

If Congress appropriates sufficient funding this budget cycle, we will begin construction in early 2016.

If sufficient funding is not available, we will hold a much higher place on the priority list next year and be in a better position to compete for funding in 2017.

My administration has and will continue to work with our federal delegation to ensure that Nevada Veterans remain a national priority.

I have sent a letter to the members of our congressional delegation and the chairmen of the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means committees requesting their continued attention to this securing this critical funding for Nevada’s veteran community.

The construction of the Northern Nevada Veterans Home is a key component to my administration’s goal of making Nevada the most military- and veteran-friendly state in the nation.

This facility is part of our sweeping and comprehensive effort to create new resources and expand existing resources for those who have answered the call to serve and defend our nation.”

School’s back in Session, which means getting back on a sleep schedule.

Many studies have shown that a lack of sleep can slow down physical and mental health. Tweens and teens aged 11-17 operating on too little sleep have shown an increase in anxiety, depression, and physical pain. School performance often declines too. A study of fourth- and sixth grade students showed that after losing about one hour of sleep over several nights, students performed worse on a test that predicts their ability to pay attention in class.

According to the National Sleep Foundation, kids aged 5-12 need 10 to 11 hours of sleep each night. Children aged 10-18 need a little less -- 8.5 to 9.5 hours per night. But most kids don’t get enough sleep.

Sadah, A. Child Development/ March/April 2005.
National Sleep Foundation: “How Much Sleep Do We Really Need?”

- Begin with a bed time that is about an hour earlier than usual.
- Set out clothes the night before.
- Make lunch or make sure back packs are all ready to go the night before.
- Limit television time an hour to 30 minutes before bedtime; have your child read to you.

The goal of the annual Door to Door for Student Achievement campaign is to partner with community members and educators to offer support, encouragement, and resources to our emerging high school graduates—junior and senior high school students from all of our comprehensive schools.

We are seeking community members to spend a Saturday morning visiting hundreds of aspiring high school graduates who need encouragement from someone like you to ensure they can obtain their high school diploma. Door to Door offers an opportunity for community members to learn more about the challenges our students face and the ways in which we can support them on the path to graduation.

When: Saturday, September 26, 2015 from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.

Locations: Damonte Ranch, Galena, Hug, Innovations, McQueen, North Valleys, Reed, Reno, Spanish Springs, Sparks. Washoe Inspire and Wooster high schools

Volunteer Registration: We ask all prospective volunteers to please complete the online registration and WCSD Adult School Volunteer Application.

Administration Offices Relocate to 34 Reservation Road

Departments operate from renovated spaces formerly health clinic

The Reno-Sparks Indian Colony Chairman’s Office, Administrative Offices, Finance Department, Public Relations Office, Fund Development, Human Resources, and the Tribal Council Secretary has relocated to 34 Reservation Rd., in the heart of the Reno Colony.

“This project is a great example of the RSIC’s infrastructure expanding and growing to meet the needs of the community,” said Arlan D. Melendez, Chairman of the RSIC. “We are committed to making the delivery of essential services a priority and this project will greatly enhance our goal.”

RSIC Administration Office Manager Dee Ramirez agrees that the new location will provide faster services.

“We have two big windows right up front to greet the community,” Ramirez said. “It is really a fresh feeling.”

In addition, Ramirez noted that the monitor located in the lobby of building A is a new feature.

Under Ramirez’s purview, the monitor will be loaded with important information about community events.

This smart television allows for digital and graphical information to be displayed continually.

The renovation of existing structures that once housed the RSIC Tribal Health Clinic is part of a 16,000 square foot, $3.0 million construction project.

In addition, through the installation of a 50 kW photovoltaic solar project, funded in part by the NV Energy Solar Generations incentive program, located on the rooftop of the complex, the RSIC will generate a significant portion of its electricity to lower energy costs.

The new location is really ideal for Human Resources,” said its director, Debra Wakeman. “The set up helps us ensure confidentiality with all our clients.”

Besides the new accommodations for administrative offices, the renovation included improvements to the recreation department, the education department, and a community meeting room.

“It is nice to have so many of our offices centrally located,” said San San Tin, the manager of the education department for the Colony. “The set up will allow community members better access to all the services from several departments.”

Over 16,000 square feet of original work space has been renovated.

Open For Business — Several Reno-Sparks Indian Colony departments are operating out of newly renovated offices. The Chairman’s Office, the Tribal Administrator, Finance, Human Resources, Information Technology, Contracts and Grants, the Administration staff and Public Relations have moved to 34 Reservation Road. All phone numbers, fax numbers and email addresses are the same.
