OROVADA, NEVADA (April 18, 2022) — Archeological procedures began at the site of the planned Thacker Pass lithium mine this week in what the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony (RSIC) says it is a violation of Native American rights.

"These procedures are desecrating the resting place of our ancestors in violation of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act [NAGPRA]," says Michon R. Eben, Tribal Historic Preservation Officer for the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony. "The Federal Government should be ashamed of the lack of government-to-government consultation by BLM Winnemucca and Far Western Anthropological Research Group, Inc."

Thacker Pass was the site of a 1865 massacre of Paiutes committed by the U.S. military.

In a letter (attached) the Tribe sent to the archeological firm conducting the dig, Far Western Anthropological Research Group, Inc., the RSIC demands "Far Western to immediately halt the planned archeological digs and refuse to participate in the desecration of Thacker Pass for corporate greed."

The Thacker Pass lithium mine has become an international scandal since January of last year, when protests began at the site of the mine. Environmentalists, tribes, and ranchers have filed suit against the proposed mine in federal court, alleging violations of various Federal laws, and calling for Congressional investigations into the matter. The project was "fast-tracked" under the Trump administration.

"How would you feel if your loved ones were massacred in a sacred, prayerful area with no closure to their deaths for the profit of stolen land, and now your same sacred ancestral lands are now being uprooted without proper federal consultation for the profit of the largest lithium mine in America?" Chairman Melendez asked, “The consultation process with tribal nations must be adhered to.”

"This is a fight for justice, a fight for the planet, and a fight for what is right," said Will Falk, an attorney for RSIC. "We need everyone to help us in stopping this desecration."

SUMMARY OF 7-PAGE LETTER SENT TO BLM WINNEMUCCA:
Reno-Sparks Indian Colony’s (RSIC) outlined a letter of its perspective of the unprincipled proposed excavations that Far Western Anthropological Research Group, Inc. (Far Western) is currently undertaking at the Paiute and Shoshone peoples important Traditional Cultural Property, Thacker Pass. These archeological procedures include excavating Native American cultural resources, sacred objects and disturbing the resting place of Paiute ancestors massacred on September 12, 1865 Nevada Calvary. Thacker Pass Lithium Mine Project (Project) is the nation’s largest and most complex lithium mine. The Project become an international scandal since January of last year, when protests began at

Well Child Visit

Parents know who they should go to when their child is sick, but pediatrician visits are just as important for healthy children.

Regular checkups are an important way to keep track of your child's health and development. Your health care team will take measurements, conduct a head-to-toe examination, update immunizations, and answer questions you may have. Be sure to share your successes and milestones, any concerns about your child's development, and challenges in daily routines. These visits are a chance to learn as much as you can about the best ways to help your child grow and thrive!

What does a well child check consist of?

A complete history during the well child visit includes information about birth history, prior screenings, diet, sleep, dental care, and medical, surgical, family, and social histories. A head-to-toe examination should be performed, including a review of growth.

the site of the mine. Environmentalists, tribes, and ranchers have filed suit against the proposed mine in federal court, alleging violations of various Federal laws, and calling for Congressional investigations into the matter. The project was "fast-tracked" under the Trump administration.

If we don’t hold federal agencies, mining companies and archeological contractors accountable for their unethical profitable tactics, then we will watch Nevada become waste land and ongoing exploitation of Indigenous people’s culture for future lithium mines. Federal undertakings, including mining projects, must include federally recognized tribes throughout the entire process.

BLM failed to meet its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), Native American Graves and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), Archeological Resources Protection Act (ARPA) and National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA). BLM did not provide tribes who attach cultural and religious significance to Thacker Pass a reasonable opportunity to identify concerns about Native American sites, advise on the identification and evaluation of traditional religious and cultural importance, articulate views on the Thacker Pass Lithium Mine Project’s effects on these Native American sites, and participate in the resolution of adverse effects as required by the NHPA. BLM and Far Western failed to include in its reports, the September 12, 1865 massacre. There are 100+ documented massacres in the Great Basin from 1864-1868. This is American History. It is Nevada history. The Paiute people are important, not just for the artifacts on and in the ground that may yield information and academic acclaim for archeologists. Taking these artifacts and disturbing burial sites would constitute yet another shameful chapter in a long history of settlers trying to destroy or commit genocide on Native history and culture.

In the letter, the RSIC reminded Far Western of the archeological ethical principles and the Archeological Institute of America’s Code of Professional Standards. The RSIC further reminded Far Western that by excavating Thacker Pass, Far Western will be demonstrating that major contracts, money and academic papers are more important to its organization than approaching archeology in a moral way and respecting federally recognized Tribe’s legitimate concerns of the desecration of its ancestral’s past life ways including its sacred sites.

The RSIC requested Far Western to take all these objections into consideration and seriously recognize that we need to re-vision the relationship between Archaeology and Indigenous Peoples. Central to this is the need for archeological firms to base its work and science on morality and ethics rather than extraction of fast tracked projects that forever negatively adversely affect Native American ancestors, sacred sites and knowledge. The RSIC requests that Far Western (and any other archeological firm that may be participating in unprincipled excavations) immediately halt the archeological digs and refuse to participate in the desecration of Thacker Pass for corporate greed.

Reno, NV (May 1, 2022)- May is Mental Health Awareness Month. Are you or someone you know living with a mental health or behavioral health issue? According to Mental Health America, 19% of Native American/Alaskan Natives reported having a mental illness in the past year.

Mental health issues can include: anger, anxiety, bipolar disorder, body dimorphic disorder, depression, personality disorders, drug misuse, alcohol misuse, eating problems, hoarding, obsessive compulsive disorder, panic attacks, paranoia, post-traumatic stress disorder, postnatal depression, phobias, self-esteem, self-harm, sleeping problems, suicidal feelings, psychosis, just to name a few.

There are many factors that may influence a person to be at-risk for developing a mental health issue, and many of those we have no control over. But, there are also many positive factors that are unique to Native Americans that may reduce the likelihood of developing a mental health issue and help develop more positive outcomes when living with a mental health issue. These things are called protective factors. When we embrace these protective factors and pass them onto future generations we significantly reduce the likelihood of developing some issues with mental health.

One very unique protective factor that we have is a strong sense of being connected. Connected to the Earth, connected to history, connected to traditions, connected to our communities, connected to family.

Have you ever been visiting somewhere new and you see another Native? You make eye contact and give that head nod. You just know and don’t have to ask them “Are you Native?” Instead the first thing you do is ask them “Where are you from?” That sense of pride to tell them where you are from, what State, what city, what Tribe (Rez) starts to come out, making a deeper connection.

When it comes to being healthy mentally this sense of connection is very important. Learning new ways to connect to culture helps to balance our lives. If you are feeling overwhelmed, negative, and/or stressed this would be a great time to practice self-regulating by burning some sage. If you haven’t done this before, this would be good opportunity to reach out to family and/or friends and learn. If you do this already, then this would be a good opportunity to teach someone else. This is one example of a tradition that is unique to Natives. Sweat, bead- ing, making regalia, making ribbon skirts/shirts, gathering traditional medicine, cooking traditional foods, and preparing to dance are other examples of connecting to culture that leave your mind, body, and/or spirit in a better place than when you started.

Remember to check-in with yourself regularly. Get as much self-care as you can. Be selfish with yourself. You deserve it.

As always if you need some extra help give us a call at (775) 329-5162 ext. 2014. YOU ARE NOT ALONE.
Thinking About Getting a Second COVID-19 Vaccine Booster Dose

In March 2022, CDC updated its COVID-19 vaccination guidance to say that certain groups of people may get second boosters. If you’re in one of those groups, it’s up to you whether or not to get a second booster right now, based on the benefits and risks the vaccine may provide to you. Your healthcare provider can help you review your options. Here are factors to think about as you consider a second booster.

1. Are you eligible?
   - Right now, you’re eligible for a 2nd COVID-19 booster if you’re:
     - 50 years of age and older and received an initial booster at least 4 months ago.
     - 12 years of age and older and moderately or severely immunocompromised and received an initial booster at least 4 months ago.
     - Received 2 doses of Johnson & Johnson vaccine at least 4 months ago.

2. Are you (or is someone you live with) more likely to get very sick?
   - Certain factors can make it more likely someone will get very sick from COVID-19. If you are eligible for a second booster (see above), it may be helpful to get a second booster now if you are (or if someone you live with is):
     - Moderately or severely immunocompromised
     - More likely to get very sick from COVID-19
     - More likely to be exposed to COVID-19 through your job, where you live, or other factors (such as frequent travel or large gatherings)
     - In an area with medium to high COVID-19 community levels
     - Or if someone you live with is unvaccinated.

3. Can you wait?
   - Even if you are eligible for a second booster, you may consider waiting to get a second booster if you:
     - Had COVID-19 within the past 3 months
     - Feel that getting a second booster now would make you not want to get another booster in the future (a second booster may be more important in fall of 2022, or if a new vaccine for a future COVID-19 variant becomes available).

If you get a second booster:
   - Make sure it’s been at least 4 months since your last COVID-19 booster.
   - Remember that second boosters can only be Moderna or Pfizer-BioNTech (and for 12-17 year-olds, only Pfizer-BioNTech).
   - You can self-attest that you have a moderately or severely weakened immune system. This means you do not need any documentation that you have a weakened immune system to receive COVID-19 vaccines (including boosters) wherever they’re offered.

SBX Project Sneak Peak of Cultural Elements

Reno, NV (April 26, 2022)-

RSIC, Nevada-Since the year 2016, the RSIC Planning Department, Cultural Resource Program/THPO and Economic Development Department have been collaborating on the Spaghetti Bowl Express (SBX) project with the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) and Nevada Department of Transportation (NDOT). This federal project was analyzed through the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA). During the years of 2018-2019, the RSIC Cultural Resource Program/THPO and its advisory group, the Tri Basin Cultural Committee (TBCC) worked with NDOT’s Landscape & Aesthetics Program to prepare relevant cultural elements to the SBX. The ‘theme’ of the SBX cultural elements are the RSIC’s history and traditions, all inclusive of the Shoshone, Paiute and Washoe peoples. We are giving the RSIC a small sneak peek (in draft form) of what is coming.

There will be feature walls that tell stories of the first beings, the animals; oral histories of the human beings; traditions of weaved baskets, and; contemporary dances that the RSIC participates in today. There will be statues consistent with the cultural elements and appropriate landscapes throughout the areas. These cultural elements will be placed on the Mill Street bridge, sound wall on the freeway, Second/Glendale St. Bridge and in the sections of where cars will be exiting and entering the freeway. The tentative date for the completed and placed cultural elements is late Fall 2022.

Groups Recover Together is an outpatient opioid use disorder treatment provider dedicated to delivering evidence-based addiction treatment. Everyone who joins Groups gets Suboxone from a doctor right away, so no one needs to worry about being sick. Our mean understands that simply replacing pills or heroin with Suboxone isn’t the long-term answer. We don’t just enroll people in treatment; we help members build a life worth being sober for.

OUR MODEL
Our model is built on 3 pillars of care including medication, therapy, and support to meet the unique needs of people in recovery. Members receive suboxone, attend weekly group therapy, and have access to a recovery support team that includes peers and navigators. We surround members with a devoted community of people who understand what they are going through and are committed to their success.

MEDICATION
Our clinicians prescribe Suboxone with consistency, making sure every member receives the right dose.

WEEKLY GROUP THERAPY
All members attend a weekly group led by a provider; members can attend a group via computer or smartphone.

COMPREHENSIVE RECOVERY SUPPORT
Our team of peers and navigators will help address other aspects of life that impact recovery. This work can take place beyond the walls of our clinics in community settings, by phone, and via text and includes:

- Securing employment, housing, and transportation
- Applying for unemployment, SNAP, TANF, and health insurance
- Regular check-ins from someone who understands what members are going through; often a person with lived experience.

HOW TO ENROLL
- CALL US ANYTIME, 24/7. When someone is ready for treatment, we are always available and work hard to get them in right away. We don’t believe in wait lists.
- MEET YOUR COUNSELOR AND PROVIDER. New members meet with a counselor and provider to determine if there is a good fit with their program, and the right dose of Suboxone to prevent cravings.
- BEGIN PARTICIPATING IN WEEKLY GROUP. Groups are small (10-15) and with the same people every week and take place during daytime hours and in the evening. Times are designed to fit into people’s schedules so they do not interfere with work or everyday life.

Give us a call and we’ll work with you to schedule a 30-minute intake and your first appointment within 48 hours.

May 2022 is Skin Cancer Awareness Month
Anyone, No Matter Their Skin Tone, Can Get Skin Cancer : Quick Facts

The American Cancer Society estimates 770 Nevadans will be diagnosed with melanoma, the deadliest form of skin cancer, this year. Thousands more will be diagnosed with basal cell or squamous cell carcinomas.

More people are diagnosed with skin cancer each year in the U.S. than all other cancers combined, says the American Cancer Society.

Melanoma is the fourth most commonly diagnosed cancer in men and the fifth most commonly diagnosed cancer in women.

Men in Nevada are nearly twice as likely to be diagnosed with melanoma than women. The American Cancer Society estimates nearly twice as many men than women will die of melanoma this year.

Melanoma is the #1 most diagnosed cancer among 25 to 29 year olds in the U.S. For 15 to 29 year olds, it is the 3rd most common for women.

1 in 5 Americans will develop skin cancer by age 70, according to the Skin Cancer Foundation.

About 90% of non-melanoma skin cancers are caused by exposure to UV radiation from the sun.

Skin cancer can affect people of nearly any age. American Cancer Society notes that men age 49 and under are more likely to develop melanoma than any other cancer.

Skin Cancer in Skin of Color:
- Melanomas in people with skin of color most often occur on non-exposed skin with less pigment, such as palms, soles of feet, nail-beds and mucous membranes.
- People with skin of color, when diagnosed with melanoma are more likely to have a late-stage diagnosis, meaning that the cancer is in a more advanced stage.

Indoor Tanning and Cancer:
- According to the Skin Cancer Foundation, indoor tanning devices emit UV radiation in amounts 10-15 times Continued on page 24 higher than the sun at its peak intensity and are considered to be carcinogenic on the same level as cigarettes and plutonium.

Any history of indoor tanning increases the risk of developing skin cancer. One study found women who have ever tanned indoors had a six-fold risk of developing melanoma in their 20s.

The Skin Cancer Foundation also notes that more people develop skin cancer because of indoor tanning than develop lung cancer because of smoking.

Prevention:

Anyone can reduce their risk of skin cancer by following the 5 Ss of Sun Safety:

- Slip on sun protective clothing, such as long pants and sleeves.
- Slop on broad spectrum SPF 30+ sunscreen and reapply at least every 2 hours.
- Slap on a wide-brimmed hat to protect the ears, scalp, and face.
- Seek shade or shelter, especially during peak sun hours between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.
- Slide of UV protective sunglasses.

People should also avoid indoor tanning devices.

Early Detection:

Knowing one’s own skin and checking it regularly from head to toe can help them to identify changes that could be cancerous or pre-cancerous. Using a handheld mirror and a friend or partner to check hard to see places (such as the back and scalp) can be done once a month.

When checking one’s skin, look for the ABCDEFs in moles:

- Asymmetry: When drawing a line through, both sides should match.
- Border: Uneven, jagged or irregular borders could be a sign of cancer.
- Color: Moles that have a variety of colors or change color over time should be checked by a doctor.
- Diameter: Moles that are larger than 6mm in diameter (about the size of a pencil eraser) should be checked by a doctor.
- Evolving: Moles that change over time, such as getting larger, changing color, itching, bleeding, or crusting, should be checked by a doctor.
- Feeling: Moles that have developed a new feeling, such as itching or pain, should be checked by a doctor.

Dermatologists can conduct annual skin exams using a specialized, hand-held tool called a dermatoscope which uses light and magnification to see details of the skin that would not be otherwise visible.

After a skin check with a dermatoscope, dermatologists may take a small scraping or remove an area of skin for examination in a lab to determine if it is cancerous, pre-cancerous, or the result of some other skin condition.

Orovada, NV (April 2022) - We are very sad to report that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service have agreed to let Lithium Nevada destroy golden eagle habitat at Thacker Pass. “The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service received an application from Lithium Nevada Corporation requesting eagle take coverage under the Bald and Golden Eagle Protection Act. The application requested authorization for incidental disturbance take of one golden eagle breeding territory located in proximity to the proposed Thacker Pass Lithium Mine Project in Humboldt County, Nevada. Project operations and activities may disturb the golden eagles and prevent them from breeding and producing offspring. …the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service plans to issue a permit to Lithium Nevada Corporation for incidental disturbance take of one golden eagle breeding territory in the vicinity of Thacker Pass Lithium Mine Project. We anticipate issuing the permit in April 2022.” As we’ve said countless times, a “permit” is a permission to destroy the land, in this case, land that is critical habitat for golden eagles.

Are electric cars a solution?

Global warming caused mainly by the burning of oil, gas, and coal is a crisis—and cars are a major cause. Mainstream environmental groups and governments, in response, are promoting electric vehicles (EVs) as a solution. But EVs still produce greenhouse gases and have their own costs.

Mining
For each pound of battery, around 60 pounds of ore needs to be mined, transported, and processed. Mining destroys wildlife habitat and threatens water supplies, indigenous cultural sites, and rural communities around the world.

Fossil Fuels
Coal, oil, and gas are required for every step in making an EV, including mining, manufacturing, shipping, charging, and disposal.

Processing
Every step in processing the materials to make batteries and cars is toxic to the environment.

Recycling
Recycling batteries from EVs is difficult, expensive, and toxic. It also cash most massively-growing demand. Most batteries end up in landfills.

Human Rights
Mining is linked to human rights abuses around the world, from Congo to Tibet to Argentina— including here in the USA.

Water
All mining requires and pollutes huge amounts of water. Producing one ton of lithium requires up to 500,000 gallons of water.

Carbon Emissions
Manufacturing an electric car releases up to 46 tons of greenhouse gases (CO2e). Switching to passenger EVs would only reduce overall US emissions by around 5 percent.

What is the Alternative?
The only true solution to the environmental crisis is to scale down—to dramatically reduce consumption and energy use, abandon growth, and live more localized lives. We cannot consume—or drive—our way out of the climate crisis.
