American Indians Still Fighting to Keep Their Rights to Vote

Alejandra Rubio (Yavapai Apache) interviews Reno-Sparks Indian Colony on why it is important for American Indians to exercise their right to vote.

Reno, NV—Tribal sovereignty allows Tribes to govern themselves within their lands. Tribes maintain services like water, law enforcement, emergency assistance, education, housing, health care, roads, and protecting and developing an economic base. Every Tribe typically holds an election within their Nation to help appoint tribal leaders who would help govern these issues.

American Indians are the first people on Turtle Island, but the last to receive U.S citizenship. When the country ratified its Constitution in 1788, and when the Black Americans won citizenship in 1868 with the 14th Amendment, American Indians still were not considered to be U.S. Citizens. It was not until 136 years later, in 1924, when President Calvin Coolidge signed the Indian Citizenship Act, this still did not mean American Indians could vote in the U.S.

Our people, who fought in World War II as American Indian Code Talkers, thought this would give them the right to Nevada has a long history as a mining state, but the impacts of extracting gold, silver, and other metals has not been equal for everyone. A new historical exhibit at the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony highlights the impacts of mining on Native people.

“What has brought wealth and job opportunities for some, has often meant the destruction of sacred sites and harm to the living culture of Native people,” says Michon R. Eben, the Tribal Historic Preservation Officer at the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony. “This exhibit is about the wounds we have suffered and also about our resilience in the face of colonization in all its forms.”

Eben and RSIC THPO staff developed the exhibit, which opens November 8th, and is titled “Wounded Souls: Extracting from the Land and Our Spirits.” It includes historic mining equipment, artefacts produced from the Comstock Lode, historical documents and information about the 1872 Mining Law, oral histories of the impacts of archeology and mining on native culture, and an exhibit on Mary and Carrie Dann’s 30-year struggle for Western Shoshone sovereignty and to protect sacred Mount Tenabo.

The Reno-Sparks Indian Colony is no stranger to the impacts of mining. The Tribe’s Hungry Valley land base was threatened by a mining operation for kitty litter in the 1990’s, but the Tribe and other Reno-area groups organized and successfully halted the project.

More recently, the Tribe has taken a stand alongside the Burns Paiute Tribe, Summit Lake Paiute Tribe, Winnemucca Indian Colony, and other allies for Thacker Pass, known as “Peehee Mu’hu” in Paiute, a sacred and culturally important site where a Canadian company plans to build an open-pit lithium mine.

Reno-Sparks is a plaintiff in a Federal Court Case for which final oral arguments will take place on January 5th.

A section of the “Wounded Souls” exhibit is dedicated to the ongoing fight at Thacker Pass.

“Wounded Souls” was developed in collaboration with the W. M. Keck Earth Science and Mineral Engineering Museum at University of Nevada Reno, runs through March 8th, and is free to the public.

Viewing hours are Monday to Friday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m and some Saturdays from 11 am to 3 pm. Please call (775) 785-1326 before your visit to ensure staff will be on-site.

vote. Even so, later found out they still were prohibited from participating in their local elections.

It was not until 1965 when the Voting Rights helped outlaw much discrimination that denied U.S. Citizens to vote.

"No matter what, we are American Citizens. We participate in everyday functions of the U.S. government. Every decision made by the federal, state, and local agencies effect our people, our tribes. The decisions they make effect funding for our healthcare, education, all tribal government funding; to initiatives like MMIW, NoDAPL, wildlife protection, protecting sacred sites & waterways, and climate justice; to the taxes we pay for groceries, gas, clothes, transportation, etc… It does not matter on or off the reservation, politicians decisions effect our way of life," said the Director of Public Relations of the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony Bethany Sam.

On September 17, my Nation, The Yavapai-Apache Nation, located in Camp Verde, AZ, held its tribal elections. Education, culture, the Nation's elders, and the Nation's economic strength are my main concerns, so when voting, I am always on the lookout for those who share my thoughts. Now living in Northern Nevada I ensure that my daughter and I participate in my Tribal elections by requesting and sending in an absentee ballot. As for local Nevada elections, I try to keep up with the news, see who’s all running, willing to help and work with their local Tribes. Even though I’m not a Tribal Member here in Nevada, I still love to see my fellow Natives thrive within their Nation.

The Native Votes Alliance Nevada and the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony held a voter registration event called Indigenize the Vote on September 29 at the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony gymnasium. Both talked about why it is necessary to vote in the upcoming Midterm election and helped those who were not registered to register and have a voice in the upcoming elections.

Native Voters Alliance Nevada is the only organization in Nevada that is organized and led by American Indians. The NVAN helps build political power by mobilizing voters, electing officials who advocate issues, and promoting legislation that benefits the Indigenous peoples.

"It is extremely important for us to vote because there are current rights that we still have to maintain. One of the many things we can do for our community is to vote to help keep our tribal rights, to help maintain our lands and livelihood because it is still being taken away inch by inch. I hope my vote counts to help our people," said Community Organizer for the Native Voters Alliance, Nizhoni Widehat.

Reno-Sparks Tribal Chairman Arlan Melendez, who has held his position for 31 years, has been a political influencer and served a six-year term on the United States Commission on Civil Rights. Melendez also served as treasurer for the National Congress of American Indians (NCAI), the oldest, most prominent, and most representative American Indian and Alaska Native organization serving the broad interests of tribal governments and communities.

Kids and COVID-19 Vaccines: What Parents and Caregivers Need To Know

COVID-19 mRNA vaccines are safe for children as young as 6 months of age. Children receive the same vaccine as adults, but the dose is smaller depending on their age.

Children are as likely as adults to be infected with COVID-19 and can spread the virus to others. Children can also get very sick and have short and long-term health complications from COVID.

COVID-19 vaccines are effective in reducing the risk of COVID disease and its possible long-term effects. Side effects from the vaccines are usually minor, including fever and soreness where the shot is given.

Contact your local health care provider, clinic or pharmacy to get your child vaccinated.

on laws, funding, and just about everything that affects us. So, we must know what the people stand for and try to get them elected. I have been voting for a long time and I know the importance of casting your vote. It's actually our right, that we have in the United States that we never really, as indigenous people have taken full advantage of. There is this idea that our vote doesn't count, but they really do," said Chairman Melendez.

Nevada Legislature 2021 passage of the bill allows the 28 Federally recognized tribes in Nevada to request a voting poll or ballot boxes for their tribal lands. The Shoshone Paiute Tribes of Duck Valley Indian Reservation will be taking advantage of this. Unfortunately for the Tribe, Elko county election officials in Nevada are making voting more challenging for them to come out and cast their votes. Typically early voting runs from October 22 to November 4 in Elko. However, Tribal members of Duck Valley will only be given an eight-hour window to cast their vote over two separate dates, October 28 - 29 and then on November 4. On September 16, with the help of Four Directions Native Vote, the Shoshone-Paiute Tribes of Duck Valley Indian reservation filed a lawsuit against the county for unequal voting opportunities.

So when it comes to voting for myself and for the future for my people, I will always remember how my past relatives have fought hard to be seen and heard, I will always make sure that I exercise my right to vote on or off my reservation.

Alejandra Rubio is UNR Journalist Major and Yavapai Apache Tribal Member.

RECRUITMENT FOR ELECTION BOARD MEMBERS

Notice to Reno-Sparks Indian Colony Enrolled Members

An Election Board consisting of five (5) members and two (2) alternates shall be appointed within six (6) months before the Tribal Election and the terms of office for these officials shall be for two (2) years. The Election Board Members shall be compensated at a rate prescribed by the Tribal Council.

The Standing Rules for Committees and Advisory Boards of the Reno-Sparks Indian Colony were revised and adopted by the Tribal Council on 10-31-2012, Resolution No. 2012-RS-53. Rule No. 8, states – Each person appointed as a member of a committee or advisory board shall not sit on more than two committees or advisory boards at a time; this is combined, meaning that if a person sits on a committee and an advisory board, that person has reached the limit under this rule. The only exception is if a person sits on an intermittent board, such as the Election Board, in that instance the person is subject to the limit of this provision but can sit as a member on one intermittent committee or advisory board. A person can only serve as the Chair of one committee or advisory board at a time, including an intermittent committee or advisory board.

The 2023 Tribal Election will be automated. Training will be provided to the Election Board. The training will include use of the ballots, voting tabulators, voting booths, and the AutoVote Management System. The automated voting process will allow for the 2023 Tribal Election results to be available within 16 minutes after all ballots are cast at the polling sites, at Reno-Sparks Indian Colony and Hungry Valley, and the polling sites are closed.

Any interested RSIC Enrolled Member may submit their signed letter of interest to the Tribal Administrator’s Office at 34 Reservation Road, Reno, NV 89502. No emails will be accepted.

COVID-19 Vaccines for Adults

COVID-19 is still around and there’s no way to know how it will affect you. It’s important to get vaccinated.

COVID-19 vaccines are safe and effective, and can prevent serious illness, hospitalization, and death from COVID-19. It is recommended that all eligible ages stay up to date on their COVID-19 vaccines, which includes getting booster doses when eligible. The vaccines are your best protection against COVID-19.

COVID-19 Vaccines are Safe & Effective

As of July 2022, over half a billion doses of COVID-19 vaccines have been safely administered to adults, children, pregnant persons, and people with underlying health conditions in the United States. We know the COVID-19 vaccines are safe and effective because they:

- Were developed using science that’s been around for decades
- Meet standards for safety, effectiveness, and quality
- Are the most monitored in history

Common Side Effects

- Pain at Injection Site
- Fever / Headache
- Tiredness
- Chills
- Body aches
- Nausea / Dizziness

NOTE: Severe side effects, such as blood clots, have been reported to occur and are taken extremely seriously by healthcare officials. Talk to your healthcare provider if you have questions.

All are welcome to join the procession and dedication, which will be livestreamed, on Friday, Nov. 11.

All are welcome to join the Smithsonian’s National Museum of the American Indian to dedicate the National Native American Veterans Memorial Friday, Nov. 11. The Native veterans procession and dedication ceremony will take place beginning at 2 p.m. on the National Mall in Washington, D.C., as part of a three-day event celebration (Nov. 11-13) to honor the military service of American Indian, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian veterans. Information about the dedication and how to register to participate in the Native veterans procession can be found by visiting the memorial’s website AmericanIndian.si.edu/nnavm The procession and dedication will be livestreamed.

Events Nov. 11 will begin with a Native veterans procession along the National Mall from the museum to the ceremony stage in front of the US Capitol. Registration is open to individual veterans and veterans groups. Family members, friends, and communities are encouraged to honor participating veterans from viewing areas along the procession route. The dedication ceremony will begin at 4 p.m.

The museum will remain open until 8 p.m. Nov. 11.

The Weekend Celebration

Throughout the weekend (Nov. 12 and 13), the museum will host special programming in honor of the dedication of the memorial, including performances by musical artists, presentation of colors by the Native American Women Warriors, hands-on activities, films, and a veterans hospitality suite.

Visitors can also visit the exhibition “Why We Serve: Native Americans in the United States Armed Forces” on the museum’s second floor. The exhibition, which tells personal stories of Native Americans, Native Hawaiians and Alaska Native veterans who have served in the U.S. armed forces, brings long overdue recognition to those who have served their country selflessly and with honor for more than 250 years.

For more information visit AmericanIndian.si.edu/visit/washington/nnavm-dedication

All listed activities take place both Saturday and Sunday unless otherwise noted.

Chairman Arlan D. Melendez will be representing Reno-Sparks Indian Colony at this historic event, the National Native American Veterans Memorial Dedication, in Washington D.C. You may see him on the livestream event.
